about PASE

PARTNERSHIP FOR AFTER SCHOOL EDUCATION

WHO IS PASE?

The Partnership for After School Education (PASE) is a child-focused organization that promotes and supports quality afterschool programs, particularly those serving young people from underserved communities.

PASE is New York City's premier provider of professional development, technical assistance and networking services to staff and agency managers working in afterschool programs. A network of more than 1,600 New York City organizations, PASE influences program quality for more than 500,000 young people attending out of school time programs annually. PASE is a strong voice for children and youth and an advocate for the field of afterschool education.

PASE accomplishes its mission by building the capacity of individual afterschool staff, youth-serving organizations, and the field as a whole, all with the goal of increasing the availability of quality services to youth in out of school time.

WHY AFTERSCHOOL?

For families everywhere, afterschool is not optional. Out-of-school time learning is not a luxury. Whether providing safe space while a parent works, enabling academic success through activities linked to school-day learning, or developing critical 21st century skills through the arts, sports, and more, afterschool programs are an essential part of the education equation:

school + afterschool = education

PLEASE BE AWARE:

Inclusion of a program in this guide in no way indicates PASE’s support or endorsement. In addition, because afterschool programs and the services they provide change, we highly recommend contacting the program to learn the most up-to-date information.

Welcome!

Recognizing how crucial a role afterschool programs play in the lives of young people everywhere, it gives us great pleasure to present The New York City Family Guide to Afterschool Programs. More than 500,000 children and young people throughout New York City rely on the programs listed in this directory for safe space, academic enrichment, healthy social and emotional development, and cultivation of the skills they need to succeed in the 21st century.

New York City's afterschool programs are as diverse as the young people they serve. With activities ranging from karate to chess, from college prep to hip-hop dance, from cooking to peer mediation, the programs in this directory offer something for everyone.

The Partnership for After School Education (PASE) is dedicated to supporting the afterschool field and ensuring that the city's youth have access to the highest quality programs, regardless of their family's income level or background. In every corner of New York City, afterschool educators and staff work tirelessly to leverage their imagination, innovation, and talent to create activities and programs that help young people fulfill their immense potential and become productive, successful citizens.

This directory is designed to help families, teachers and counselors find the programs in their area that best meet the needs and suit the interests of their children. PASE is grateful to the Stella and Charles Guttman Foundation for their generous support of this important publication, and to the staff and Board of Directors of PASE who worked to bring the directory to life.

For more information about PASE or to access the searchable online version of this directory, please visit www.pasesetter.org.

Once again, welcome to the New York City Family Guide to Afterschool Programs. It is our great hope that this publication helps youth and families throughout New York City balance the important education equation: SCHOOL + AFTERSCHOOL = EDUCATION.

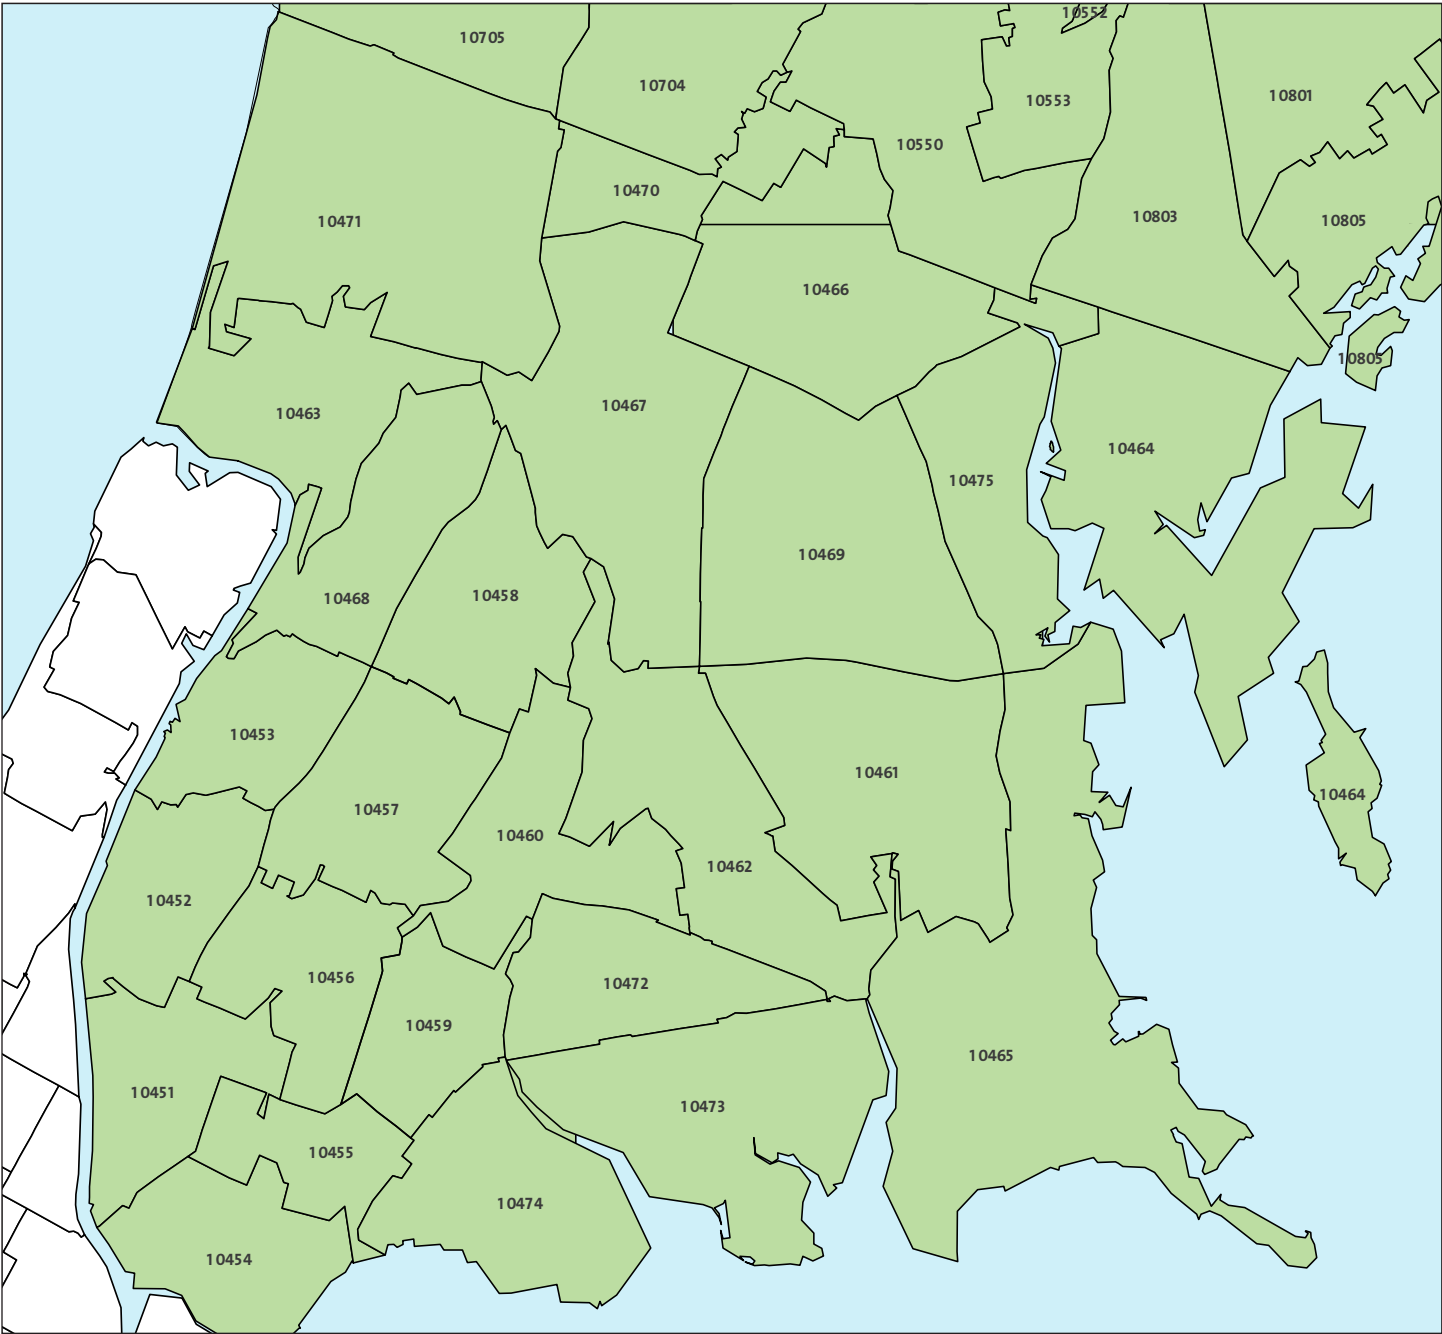

Sincerely,

Dr. Shelly Wimpfheimer, LMSW
